Where Emergency Care meets Global Health!

The 2nd Pan American Forum of Emergency Care and Global Health built on the successful meeting in 2018. We attracted leading multidisciplinary specialists and public health experts involved in emergency care: emergency specialists, obstetricians, neonatologists, intensivists, pediatricians, primary care, internal medicine... all interested in how their state-of-the-art knowledge can be applied to low resources settings and culturally challenging settings. The conference was partially built on PACEMD’s experience in training 41,000 health care providers in Mexico and Latin America, improving their knowledge, skills, and abilities in medical centers... as well as out to the last kilometer!

The 2nd Pan–American Forum in Emergency Care and Global Health will be held in beautiful San Miguel de Allende, Mexico a World Heritage Site

Quick Facts about San Miguel:

1. San Miguel is a simple 2½ hour flight from Houston and Dallas airports.
2. World Heritage: Thanks in part to its colonial Spanish architecture, San Miguel is a UNESCO World Heritage Site and a magnet for weekenders and expats. This Charming Mexican City Was Voted the Best in the World for the 2nd Year in a Row by Travel + Leisure Magazine.
3. Climate: While many parts of Mexico are struck with extraordinary heat throughout the year, the altitude of San Miguel completely changes the experience! Lows seldom fall much below 60 F, and the highs are in the 70s and 80s.

Register Today!

www.paceforum.org

Registration includes access to all tracks and focus groups

Featured Tracks include:
- Emergency Medicine.
- Pediatric Emergency Medicine & Global Health.

Focus Groups:
- Ultrasound.
- Research in low resource settings.
- Disaster Management.
- Wilderness Medicine.
- Telehealth & Telementoring.

More to be announced....

We’re very excited to offer opportunities to gain CME credits while attending our conference!

Visit www.paceforum.org for more information